MENNONITE YEARBOOK

1990-1991

Brief Statement of Mennonite Doctrine

This is a summary statement based on the confession of faith adopted by Mennonite General Conference in 1963. For the complete text see the Mennonite Confession of Faith. (Herald Press, paper, $1.25, in Canada $1.50)

1. We believe in one God eternally existing as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

2. We believe that God has revealed himself in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, the inspired Word of God, and supremely in his Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

3. We believe that in the beginning God created all things by his Son. He made man in the divine image, with free will, moral character, and a spiritual nature.

4. We believe that man fell into sin, bringing depravity and death upon the race; that as sinner, man is self-centered and self-willed, unwilling and unable to break with sin.

5. We believe that there is one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus, who died to redeem us from sin and arose for our justification.

6. We believe that salvation is by grace through faith in Christ, a free gift bestowed by God on those who repent and believe.

7. We believe that the Holy Spirit convicts of sin, effects the new birth, gives guidance in life, empowers for service, and enables perseverance in faith and holiness.

8. We believe that the church is the body of Christ, the brotherhood of the redeemed, a disciplined people obedient to the Word of God, and a fellowship of love, intercession, and healing.

9. We believe that Christ commissioned the church to go into all the world, making disciples of all the nations, and ministering to every human need.

10. We believe it is the will of God that there should be ministers to teach the Word, to serve as leaders, to administer the ordinances, to lead the church in the exercise of discipline, and to serve as pastors and teachers.

11. We believe that those who repent and believe should be baptized with water as a symbol of baptism with the Spirit, cleansing from sin, and commitment to Christ.

12. We believe that the church should observe the communion of the Lord's Supper as a symbol of his broken body and shed blood, and of the fellowship of his church, until his return.

13. We believe in the washing of the saints' feet as a symbol of brotherhood, cleansing, and service, and in giving the right hand of fellowship and the holy kiss as symbols of Christian love.

14. We believe that God has established unique roles for man and woman, symbolized by man's bared head in praying and prophesying, and by woman's veiled head.

15. We believe that Christian marriage is intended by God to be the union of one man and one woman for life, and that Christians shall marry only in the Lord.

16. We believe that Christians are not to be conformed to the world, but should seek to conform to Christ in every area of life.

17. We believe that Christians are to be open and transparent in life, ever speaking the truth, and employing no oaths.

18. We believe that it is the will of God for Christians to refrain from force and violence in human relations and to show Christian love to all men.

19. We believe that the state is ordained of God to maintain order in society, and that Christians should honor rulers, be subject to authorities, witness to the state, and pray for governments.

20. We believe that at death the unsaved enter into everlasting punishment and the saved into conscious bliss with Christ, who is coming again, and will raise the dead, sit in judgment, and bring in God's everlasting kingdom.

During the Middle Ages, cities like Strasbourg, Ghent, Munster, Cologne, Basel, or Rotterdam, located at the junctions of major trade routes and rivers, tended to be more cosmopolitan, tolerant, and receptive to new ideas and ideologies.

Cologne's magnificent cathedral—which took 700 years to build—was only partly finished when Anabaptists of the Swiss and Dutch traditions met in the city in 1590 to write the Concept of Cologne, the design for a merger 400 years ago.

Foreword

The Mennonite Publishing House is pleased to present to you the 1990-91 Mennonite Yearbook. This volume reports the current organizational picture and the statistical record of the life of the Mennonite Church (MC) in its local, conference, churchwide, and worldwide expressions. It also reflects the variety of ways in which the Mennonite Church interacts with, and relates to, the broader Mennonite and Brethren in Christ family of Anabaptist church bodies.

In 1991 we recognize an important event which took place 400 years ago. Then, as well as today, Mennonite bodies were searching for ways to join their energies to make their life within and witness without more productive. The historical article "The Concept of Cologne" describes briefly the coming together of the Dutch Low Country and Swiss-South German Mennonite bodies in Europe in 1591. The translation of this complete record of agreements is available in English for the first time in this volume. Our thanks to Anabaptist Mennonite history specialists Leonard Gross and Jan Gleysteen for their efforts. The life and challenges of the church in 1990-91 are ably presented by moderator George R. Brunk III in "The Mennonite Church, 1990-91."

In this volume users will note that the basic features of the Yearbook continue; and, as is usual with each volume, readers will note some changes as well as some new features. These include the following.

First. Attention is focused on current Vision 95 efforts to plant new churches as well as the "many peoples" dimension of the Mennonite Church highlighted at our Assembly meeting—Normal 89—this past summer. Users will find in the "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations" listings of Mennonite Church Plantings, the Afro-American Mennonite Association, Hispanic Mennonite Convention, and United Native Ministries Council.

Second. A new conference, "Native Mennonite Conference," is listed for the first time. These are Native member congregations, formerly associated with Northern Light Gospel Mission Conference, who have come together in a new relationship. The Northern Light organization has now turned its energies toward missions in new areas and has formally disbanded as a conference body.

Third. The detailed listing of schools (elementary, secondary, college, and seminary) and related educational councils were transferred to become part of the Mennonite Board of Education entry.

Four. The new section, "Regional Mission Boards," under the Mennonite Board of Missions entry, includes conference-based mission boards who sponsor work beyond the borders of their specific conference area.

Five. The "Directory of Detailed Listings" now lists "Books Abroad and At Home," Mennonite Heritage and Information Centers," "Mennonite Hospitality and Travel Programs," "Pastorate Project," and "Victim Offender Reconciliation Programs."

Six. The "Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches and Programs" was changed from its focus on specific Mennonite Church efforts and workers to an inter-Mennonite listing. The Council of International Ministries provided this full directory of overseas mission efforts and relationships sponsored by member Mennonite and Brethren in Christ bodies in North America.

Seven. The "Directory of Mennonite Church Statistics" reports the results of new data collected from congregations. Users will find (a) a more precise record of member affiliation with other Anabaptist as well as other Christian bodies; (b) a count of members, leaders, and congregations according to their ethnic background as well as their gender—male and female; and (c) a report of churches and membership according to the size of congregation as well as the size of communities in which congregations are located.

A look at numbers. At the end of 1989, the Mennonite Church General Assembly-related conferences included 102,296 members in 1,145 congregations. In addition to these members, there are 7,761 people who are members of other Anabaptist bodies and 1,536 who are members of other Christian bodies, who relate to MC congregations. This may reflect growth in this area, or it may indicate that more precise reporting was done by congregations in this area than was done for the 1988-89 volume. This segment grew by 1,232 over that count. The dip in MC membership from two years ago may be related to this method of reporting. Add 52,143 members in 829 congregations overseas to the North American numbers, then one discovers that the inclusive worldwide Mennonite Church family counts 154,439 members in 1,974 congregations who live in 65 countries around the globe. Size of congregations (including church plantings) range from no members (57 in all) to 936 members. Congregations are located in all sizes of communities. Other Mennonite Church conferences who are part of the Mennonite Church family but have chosen not to participate in the program of Mennonite Church General Assembly number 13,904 members in 289 congregations. The Mennonite Church 1990-1991

by George R. Brunk III, Moderator
Mennonite Church General Assembly and Chairman, Mennonite Church General Board

With the current biennium, 1990-1991, we enter the last decade of the 20th century. We now stand on the threshold of a new century. This artificial structuring of our years does not change our material or spiritual situation. Yet these calendar shifts cause us more readily to appreciate the passages of life and, especially, the on-rush of the future. In this biennium futurists of all kinds, doom-sayers and boom-seers, will be unusually vocal. The church of Jesus Christ, which believes in a God who beckons us to walk into his future, will find it natural to live in the threshold atmosphere. "For [Abraham] looked forward to the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God" (Hebrews 11:10).

Guided by vision

Vision is the way we look to the future. By it we not only seek to foresee what is coming but we commit ourselves to make the future come out right—right as defined by the great purposes of God as revealed in the scripture. It is hardly accidental that the Mennonite Church has given itself to the spelling out of vision in this shift of the centuries. With this biennium we stand at the mid-point of Vision 95—a plan to increase our stewardship and outreach during the time span from 1985 to 1995. The next five years will tell whether the preparatory work of the last five years will bear fruit. The real test of will, therefore, is still before us. Having formulated and disseminated a dream, can we make good on it with the costly conversions and sacrificial actions that will be required of us.

During this biennium the Mennonite Church General Board hopes to begin a process of vision definition that will pick up where Vision 95 leaves off. We also intend to be more comprehensive. Vision 95 has demonstrated the value of corporate goal setting. This vision also surfaced the need for a wider outlook in order to address the deeper issues of what we want to be as a church. As we move beyond 1995 and into the 21st century what is God calling us to become? By involving the church in a broad-based process, the General Board hopes to benefit from the wider discernment and to touch the largest number of our members.

Two basic issues

There are other basic issues for the church that will need consideration in our vision making and around which specific, current agenda cluster. First is the broad issues of our involvement in the world and society. This classic issue arises out of our Anabaptist-Mennonite experience. It is a biblical norm that the people of God are both separated from the world but also engaged with the world in mission. These twin truths are interdependent—we truly serve the world by being a living demonstration of a viable alternative for the world. Church history shows, however, that we have often eased the high tension of being for the world by being against it. Thus we disengage from the world in order to more easily preserve our separateness or we cozy up to the world in order to more readily win it. Whichever way we proceed we destroy the power of biblical faith.

The challenge to tough discipleship in mission, to all of God's world, must hold our central attention. Normal '89 called us, for example, to root out the vestiges of racism in our own circle and to address the same problem in our society. In the same setting we also committed ourselves to press more vigorously for recognition by our government of the freedom to designate our tax dollars for peaceful purposes. Being involved in our larger world also means opening ourselves to share with Christians of other denominations. Mennonites are recognized as a people with distinctive approaches to living the Christian faith. Other believers are unusually open to test those approaches for answers to their search for faithfulness. Searching out ways to interact with those believers for mutual learning is a high priority for us.

The second basic issue is that of pluralism within the church. The growing diversity of perspectives, faith language, and practices appears to threaten the unity of the church. Particularly difficult is the distinction between cultural diversity brought by our openness to new peoples and faith diversity caused by theological confusion or compromise. The first we can celebrate, the second we must lament. Our continuing mandate is to let many people become God's people—as Normal '89 expressed it. There is the equally crucial need to guard the common identity of faith by which we recognize our genuine oneness. On this latter concern, we can be grateful for the work of the confession of faith committee which will engage

by Leonard Gross
Executive Secretary, Mennonite Historical Committee and Director of Archives of the Mennonite Church, 1970-1990

The setting for merger in 1591

As we look to ever closer cooperation among the several Mennonite groups, including possible integration and merger, we do well to look back to such past attempts, for insights and ideas that might be of help presently, in charting our future course.

A highly significant Mennonite merger in this regard took place in Cologne, Germany, exactly four hundred yeas ago, in 1591. Indications suggest it was a positive step for all concerned. Two groups met face to face: the Swiss-South Germans and the Low-Country Dutch. (In the main, the Mennonite Church is rooted in the Swiss; and the General Conference Mennonite Church and the Mennonite Brethren, in the Dutch tradition.) Representatives of these groups came to agree on sixteen points—some, obviously, the concern of the Low-Country Mennonites; others, just as obviously, the concern of the Swiss. The confession of faith to emerge from this conference has come to be known as the Concept of Cologne.

The Low-Country Mennonites were concerned with a more visible systematic-theological approach than were the Swiss; the latter, more concerned already from their very beginnings in 1524-25, with the existential question of how a gathered, peaceful people are to function. And in both cases, there were bona fide reasons for these differing emphases. We always need to respond, somehow, to the problems and issues at hand.

The Concept of Cologne is the result of the first successful attempt at integration for these two Anabaptist traditions. Both, to be sure, had as their primary motifs the main tenets of what has come to be known as the Anabaptist vision: disciples, gathered as the spiritual body of Jesus Christ, attempting to live out his gospel of peace (see Concept of Cologne text, points 5, 6, 7, and 14 later in this essay). The Low-Country Mennonites, on the one hand, introduced into the Swiss mindset a more explicit systematic theology; the Swiss, in turn, suggested to the Low-country leaders that congregational discipline should not be taken to the extreme (points 7 and 8). All Mennonites, of course, were intent upon remaining separate from the evils of the world, the note on which this confession of faith ends (point 16).

The Concept of Cologne should be seen as a document of its time, as it had to be, to be effective for its generation. Individuals from two disparate groups worked, in a loving manner, through extremely difficult questions, such as that of exclusion and matters of dress. The answers the group came up with were flexible and redeeming in nature. The Swiss concern for group process (Matthew 18) was combined with the Low-Country concern for church purity (1 Corinthians 5). It is significant that in the severer Dordrecht (Netherlands) Confession of 1632, Matthew 18 is not mentioned, yet in the Schleitheim Confession of 1527, which is Swiss, Matthew 18 is central—whereas 1 Corinthians 5 is missing there in the discussion of congregational discipline.

The Concept of Cologne was foundational for later attempts at unification, as Christian Hege mentions in his article "Concept of Cologne" in The Mennonite Encyclopedia (1955, Mennonite Brethren Press, Mennonite Publication Office, Mennonite Publishing House, Volume 1, page 664): "The bond which was formed in Cologne between the Dutch and High German [i.e., Swiss] Mennonites led beyond these agreements to practical deeds of brotherly love. In the seventeenth century, when the Swiss Mennonites were hard pressed by their government, the Dutch Mennonites persuaded the States-General to relieve this oppression and helped them settle in lands where they were tolerated. Thus the agreements reached in the Concept of Cologne had their effect on Mennonite history for a long time afterward."

The text of the 1591 agreements:

CONCEPT OF COLOGNE

[1. The Trinity.] First of all, we believe in the divine Trinity—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—that there is one, sole, eternal, and omnipotent God.

[2. Jesus Christ.] We believe Jesus Christ to be the sole Son of the Father from eternity, born of Mary in the fullness of time, through the power of the Most High and through the participation of the Holy Spirit, and who became flesh through the eternal Word of the Father.

[3. The Holy Spirit.] We also believe in the Holy Spirit, as a power of God, proceeding from the Father through the Son, promised by Christ, and sent to comfort the believers.

[4. Salvation.] Whoever believes in this Son of God as the promised Redeemer and Savior sent by God, the same is free of all sins.

[5. Baptism.] The person who acknowledges himself or herself to be sinful, who demonstrates worthy fruits of repentance, who gladly embraces the Word of Christ, and who desires and requests baptism: that person is to be baptized with water by an irreproachable chosen minister, in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Furthermore, whoever is so minded, and who is already baptized in the manner mentioned above, shall not be baptized again.

[6. Communion.] All who in this manner have been baptized through one Spirit into one body [1 Corinthians 12:13] shall celebrate communion together, using common bread and wine, in memory of Christ's great love and his bitter death.

[7. Congregational Discipline.] This community of the saints has the power through the keys of the kingdom of heaven to bind and to loose, and in this manner, the rule of Matthew 18 [:15-20] is to be observed, when a sin is committed between brother and brother.

However, public acts of the flesh are to be disciplined, according to God's Word, with mature judgment. According to the teachings of Paul, 1 Corinthians 5 [:9-13], one is to have nothing to do with such persons, including not eating with them. To be sure, in carrying out such strict discipline, there is to be no misuse, which unfortunately has taken place many times, through which the misuse of marital avoidance and other such disorders also followed. Much more, according to the anointing of the Holy Spirit, one is to act with love in working with those being disciplined, that they may mend their ways.

Even if this judgment of Paul is understood by some in a more complex manner, and by others in a simpler manner, we still, as God-fearing people, until further indication from God to the contrary [Philippians 3:15], shall at all times be reconciled with one another in love, listening to each other's views in the spirit of love, without strife and quarreling.

Individuals who sin shall be avoided if they were admonished once or twice.

[8. Marriage.] We also confess from Holy Scripture, both Old and New Testaments, that believers do not have the freedom to marry, except among those who through faith have become a member of the body of Christ, who are thus a spiritual brother or sister—namely, two free persons according to the first charter as initiated with Adam and Eve. Transgressors of the same are deserving of discipline by the congregation, and no spiritual unity is to be maintained with them, unless one detects in them worthy fruits of regret and repentance; they then are to be admonished to hold faithfully to their marriage vows, neither to forsake their spouse, nor to enter into a second marriage. All this is to be administered correctly according to the anointing [of the Holy Spirit].

[9. Foot washing.] We also want to practice the foot washing of the saints. If fellow believers ask this of us, we want to comply: their washing our feet, but also our washing their feet, in humility.

[10. Leadership.] A bishop or a preacher is to be blameless. After he has been tested, he is to be allowed to serve. He is to be installed in his office through the laying on of hands by the elders, in agreement with the congregation, and elected in this manner.

[11. Deacons.] According to the example of the apostolic congregations, deacons are also to be chosen, to whom the care of the needy is entrusted. They are to distribute the gifts donated for those in need in such a manner that the distributions also remain confidential, according to the teachings of Christ [Matthew 6:3].

[12. Concerning Oaths.] According to Christ's and James's teachings, one is not to swear oaths; much more, all words and deeds are to be confirmed with a truthful yes or no, and nothing in addition—which in truth is to be held to, in the same manner as that of a sworn oath.

[13. Concerning Usury.] Since usury is an abomination before God, and seen as damaging to humanity, therefore everything that according to Holy Scripture can be identified as being usury is not to be permitted.

[14. Concerning Revenge.] No revenge is permitted, whether with outward weapons, or in requiting verbal abuse with verbal abuse.

[15. The Resurrection.] We also believe in a bodily resurrection of the dead, both for the righteous and unrighteous, and believe that at the last judgment each will be received accordingly as he or she has lived.

[16. Separation from the World.] Furthermore, another proper concern was discussed, namely, that the freedom the merchants exercise in running their businesses tends to increase temporal greed, and that the fashions of dress resemble more the ways of the world than they do the way of Christian humility. Since these sins can creep in unnoticed, and since it is to be feared that the same will bring damage to many souls, and since it is not easy to set exact standards in this regard—how much profit a merchant may earn and what a person is to wear—we still desire that everyone be content with a modest profit and with simple clothing: indeed, in every way, proving oneself to be a light to the world, neither following the fashions of the world, nor comparing self to those who are insatiable, forever wanting more and more. It was agreed in this regard that all guardians of God's household are to warn their people, in all faithfulness to—and empowered by—the Word, that they together may remain pure, and escape from the corruption of the disobedient. In this manner one member is to admonish and warn the other in a kindhearted way, so that the admonition may be all the more agreeable.

This was signed by many hands, as follows:

The Concept of Cologne was signed and agreed upon by the elders and servants of Anabaptist settlements in nine different regions, North and South, and "humbly recorded" by Leenaerdt Clock, in the name of the group.

concerning Sunday school, Bible school, club attendance, and youth participation, while gathered, was not summarized in time to be included in this volume. These will be made available at a later time.

The creation of this 89th volume of the Mennonite Yearbook involved a lot of effort by many people. First of all, much appreciation goes to congregational leaders who provided detailed information about their churches. Their hours of labor made possible this important record for the broader church. We hope that this process helped each congregation gain a clearer picture of the nature of their faith community. Thanks also to the representatives of Mennonite conferences, agencies, and institutions who supplied information about their programs for the benefit of all.

In the Mennonite Yearbook office our most sophisticated electronic equipment was employed to enter and process the information as well as to typeset this volume. Special thanks go to Marilyn Swartzentruber, editorial assistant, who supervised the entry of all the information; to Joe Yoder, systems analyst, who created the complex formatting software program to make this process possible; to Neal Weaver, composing room supervisor, who put together the complicated coding to form the pages on screen; to the many other editorial and manufacturing personnel who made this volume a reality; and to the marketing and store staffers who placed it in your hands.

Your comments about this volume are welcome. Let us know what is useful, as well as what is not. Changes occur rapidly. We know that many changes occur between the time when information is gathered and when it is published. If you are aware of changes in congregational, ministerial, and in any board or agency listings, let us know. The Mennonite Yearbook office wishes to keep our records up-to-date. Your thoughtfulness and assistance will enhance the work of all of us and provide a clearer picture of who we are, by the grace of God, as we participate in building God's kingdom in our world. —*James E. our thinking and discussion on faith perspectives for the coming years.

But along with these concerns, Mennonites would do well not to exaggerate the thrust of pluralism. Observed from the outside we appear to be quite uniform and cohesive. We should learn to live with greater variety of faith expressions without being seized by a fear that things are disintegrating. In this discussion of unity and diversity, mention must be made of another major item on our agenda—the exploration of integration with the General Conference Mennonite Church. The deeper questions here are the spiritual not the practical ones. We need to discern whether unity will strengthen the witness for the Anabaptist-Mennonite faith vision or weaken it by internal tensions of diversity.

A spiritual vision is crucial

A spiritually alive church, encountering the world, will always be wrestling with ethical problems, distinguishing between right and wrong. The Mennonite Church is currently occupied with a full quota of such challenges. Our times bring new questions. These include such questions as to how we should respond to the AIDS scourge, how do we deal responsibly with our natural environment, and what to say about our church agencies who serve as tax gathering agents for the government? Old issues, such as abortion and homosexuality, present us with new questions and challenges for discernment and ministry. Our new sense of responsibility for the world beyond our own circle leaves us with a dilemma. How much do we attempt to achieve our peace, pro-life, and other ethical ideas within the constraints of public policy and civil authority?

However, for a spiritual community the most fundamental issue is found in none of the above. The central concern is whether a spiritual vision burns within and among us. Only such a vision has the power to expel what is inconsistent and hold together what is truly one. Our spiritual vision must be nourished by a constant drawing from the wells of fellowship with God.

In addition, the directory includes all congregations listed in the "Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies." These include Beachy Amish (BA) and Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church (EP). Finally, included are all congregations affiliated with the Brethren in Christ (BIC), Church of God in Christ, Mennonite (CGCM), General Conference Mennonite (GC), Mennonite Brethren (MB), Evangelical Mennonite Church (EMC), Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada (EMCC), the Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada (EMMC), the Fellowship of Evangelical Bible Churches (FEBC) (formerly Evangelical Mennonite Brethren), Hutterian Brethren (HB), the Old Order River Brethren (OORB), and Reinland Mennoniten Gemeinde of Manitoba (RMGM). While these congregations are integrated with Mennonite Church congregations, the information about them is limited to their location, name, and affiliation.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the location of the meetinghouse. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to find or contact the congregation at its place of meeting. Note that this location is not a mailing address. All mail should be sent to the address listed under the congregation in the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations," "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations," "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences," or "Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies." Readers desiring to get in touch with the pastor or contact person of a congregation should follow the information provided in these same directories. Also included in these directories is information regarding conference organizations, area/bishops/overseer groupings, and other congregational data. (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference and church body codes used.)

Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or missing data, please provide full information to the editor, Mennonite Yearbook, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale PA 15683-1999. An example of a complete Mennonite Church congregational listing is as follows:

Directory of Conferences and Congregations

Related to Mennonite Church General Assembly

This directory lists Mennonite Church confer-nces alphabetically by name of conference. Vithin each one, congregations are listed alpha-etically by name. Conferences listed in this irectory participate in the program of the Men-onite Church General Assembly. Conferences /ho do not participate are included in the "Direc-ory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences."

The purpose of this directory is to provide all e information necessary to contact a given ongregation by mail or telephone without con-ulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mail-g address and telephone number listed is the ne designated by the congregation as its official ontact. This may be the pastor's office, resi-ence, meetinghouse, church office, or another ocation or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1) and those who carry active responsibility (2). Ministers included only in the "Ministerial Directory" are those who are retired (3), without congregational responsibility (4), carrying district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities (5), chaplains (6), missionaries (7), staff members of a church-sponsored or related board, agency, or program (8).

Report Congregational and Ministerial Changes

The Mennonite Yearbook maintains the official listing of Mennonite Church congregations and ministers. Should there be a change in the congregational address, telephone number, ministerial leadership, or any other details of its listing, please report these changes to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. In order to enter changes properly the Mennonite Yearbook office needs the old information that is being replaced along with the new information which updates it.

The same request applies to ministers. Any change in the minister's address, telephone, office, function, congregational membership, conference affiliation, and other details are to be reported to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. Please submit current information with the new information which replaces it.

Send all communications to 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999, or call us at 412-887-8500 or send it via fax to 412-887-3111. Also notify your conference secretary or office of these changes. Your conference secretary or office and the Mennonite Yearbook office work together closely to insure the complete accuracy of congregational and ministerial listings.

Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations

This directory lists urban councils and area organizations alphabetically by name. Within each council or organization, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. The purpose of this directory is to identify those informal and emerging bodies which are developing within the life of the church in urban centers as well as in areas where congregations with a variety of conference affiliations and church bodies are located. Also included are those congregations identified by a common ethnic background, a common bond such as inter-Mennonite cooperation, and a common task such as church planting efforts. Most congregations are members of, and hold primary affiliation with, a Mennonite Church conference, other Mennonite body, another Anabaptist or Christian body.

Listed with each congregation is the minister or lay leader who carries primary leadership responsibility (ministerial function code "1"). All other ministers are listed in the "Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory."

For an example of a complete listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences

Not Related to Mennonite Church General Assembly

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference, area, or fellowship. Within each one, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. Conferences and fellowships in this directory do not participate in nor send delegates to the Mennonite Church General Assembly.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as their official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, church office, or another location or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1) and those who carry active responsibility (2). Ministers included only in the "Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory" are those who are retired (3), are without congregational responsibility (4), carry responsibilities beyond the congregation (5), are chaplains (6), are active missionaries (7), are staff members of a church-sponsored or -related board, agency, or program (8).

For an example of a complete congregational listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations and Related Ministries

The ministry and mission of the Mennonite Church is carried out through boards listed below. These are supported by contributions from the membership, with exception that the program of the Mennonite Mutual Aid Board is supported by enrollment in their services and the program of the Mennonite Publication Board is supported by purchases of books, curriculum materials, magazines, as well as job printing and mailing services.

The 1990 combined budget of the churchwide agencies is approximately $95,000,000. The average per member contribution needed by each of the agencies is as follows: Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries, $10.25; Mennonite Board of Education, $3.20; Mennonite Board of Missions, $105.00; seminaries, $13.75; colleges, $33.20; Mennonite Church General Board, $5.65; minority leadership education, $6.55; Associate Groups—Afro American Mennonite Association, $.65 and Hispanic Mennonite Convention, $.45. The total per member average giving goal is $178.70.

Inter-Mennonite agencies approved for churchwide support include Mennonite Central Committee, up to $15.60 per member (to be adjusted by each congregation in proportion to the amounts contributed and sent directly to MCC by individuals) and Mennonite World Conference, $1.05 per member.

The Fellowship is a coalition of like-minded Mennonites whose concerns focus upon the basic biblical tenets of faith which have been the foundations of the sector of the reformation of the sixteenth century known as the Anabaptist Movement, with special interest in that segment of Anabaptism called Mennonite. The Fellowship was formed because certain of those basic biblical tenets of faith long held as foundational more currently are being questioned, modified, or negated, and, because by general acknowledgment, the Mennonite Church membership contains a wide range of conservative elements on the one hand and liberal elements on the other, with the latter seemingly gaining the ascendency, and, because at issue is the control of thought through the schools and through the publication of literature, and, because in the present confusion of ideas, there is need for a fundamental, distinctive, proportional, and consistent articulation of faith.

Date of organization: 1920

Purpose and function: MCC is the cooperative relief and service agency of 17 North American Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches and conferences. Central for Mennonites is Christ's call for Christians to reflect the compassion of Jesus, teach the good news to the poor, proclaim liberty for the captives and recovery of sight for the blind, and set at liberty those who are oppressed. Community development, peacemaking, and emergency relief are carried on "in the name of Christ" in response to Christ's command to teach all nations the way of discipleship, love and peace.

Thrift Shops and SELFHELP Crafts, MCC

MCC shops sell two types of goods: SELFHELP craft items (handmade crafts by needy people in developing nations), and/or recycled clothing and household items. Proceeds from the craft items benefit SELFHELP producers; proceeds from the sale of recycled (thrift) items are donated to MCC. Shops are sponsored by Mennonite Central Committee in cooperation with MCC constituent area conferences and congregations. Stores are listed alphabetically by city according to state or province. Stores which sell SELFHELP items only are noted with one asterisk (*) in front of their names; those which sell thrift items only are designated with a double asterisk () in front of their names. All other stores sell both types of goods.

Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies

This directory lists the Beachy Amish Church (BA) and the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church (EP). Within each body, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. These bodies relate informally to the Mennonite Church on a fraternal basis.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as their official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, church office, or another location or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1) as well as ministers who carry active responsibility (2). All other ministers are included only in the "Ministerial Directory" found with each body, after its organizational and congregational entries.

For an example of a complete congregational listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

Growing In Christ's Mission

In obedience to Christ, Mennonites of Lancaster Conference and nearby conferences partner to make Christian disciples among the peoples of the world. Working through more than 200 congregations and a mission board, these sisters and brothers seek to:

- encourage evangelism
- call, equip and send out leaders
- spark personal and congregational renewal
- carry out ministries of compassion and justice

Report Congregational and Ministerial Changes

The Mennonite Yearbook maintains the official listing of Mennonite Church congregations and ministers. Should there be a change in the congregational address, telephone number, ministerial leadership, or any other details of its listing, please report these changes to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. In order to enter changes properly the Mennonite Yearbook office needs the old information that is being replaced along with the new information which updates it.

The same request applies to ministers. Any change in the minister's address, telephone, office, function, congregational membership, conference affiliation, and other details are to be reported to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. Please submit current information with the new information which replaces it.

Send all communications to 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999, or call us at 412-887-8500 or send it via fax to 412-887-3111. Also notify your conference secretary or office of these changes. Your conference secretary or office and the Mennonite Yearbook office work together closely to insure the complete accuracy of congregational and ministerial listings.

In addition to the Mennonite Church students of Table 19, the data in this table includes all other students. The first column for each school lists full-time students, and in the second column part-time students are added.

Some of the schools, especially the seminaries, have a significant ministry to students not taking course work for credit. These audit and extension students are not included in the numbers reported here.

Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory

This directory lists all ordained, licensed, or commissioned men and women who are members of the Mennonite Church in North America. It includes ministers of Mennonite Church conferences who do, and those who do not, participate in the program of Mennonite Church General Assembly. (These are from congregations listed in "Directory of Conferences and Congregations," "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations," and "Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies.") The information provided for each minister is: name, four-digit individual identification code (the code number is assigned to insure correct identity of each minister, especially on those occasions when the name is identical or similar to another name in the directory), name of spouse, address, telephone (while the home information is requested, some ministers prefer an office listing), office, year of ordination, function, year of birth, congregational name and number (if person carries functions 1 or 2), conference affiliation. See example below. Where information is not available or not applicable, it is omitted.
